

Nathan E. Green, M.D., F.A.C.C.

Cardiologist

Nathan Green, MD, a cardiologist and skilled medical executive, has a passion for providing extraordinary cardiovascular care at an affordable price.

+ Experience

Dr. Green joins Saltzer Health from his clinical practice in Idaho at St. Luke's Meridian Medical Center. With over 15 years of clinical experience, he has worked as an interventional cardiologist in several regional hospitals in the Northwest, at Group Health Cooperative in Seattle, and at Cardiovascular Associates in Denver, Colorado.

In addition to his clinical career, Dr. Green has extensive executive leadership experience in large health systems. In Idaho, he led St. Luke's Heart & Vascular program as the System Medical Director. In addition, he has served as the regional Chief Medical Officer for CardioSolution and as the medical director of cardiovascular services for Group Health Cooperative in Puget Sound. He has served on the boards of St. Luke's Health Partners Network, Primary Health Medical Group, and the finance committee of Group Health Permanente.

+ Services

Cardiovascular Disease Management » Using preventative care, education, and testing, we can help you prevent and manage cardiovascular diseases, including high blood pressure, heart health and cholesterol management.

Cardiovascular Testing & Treatment » For diagnosis or risk assessment, we use noninvasive testing including stress testing, rhythm monitoring, cardiac ultrasound, and CT scans to ensure the correct course of action is taken for your health.
